PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH SOCIETY.

At a regular meeting of Milton Lodge No. 99, I. O. O. F., the following tribute of respect to the memory of James Monjar, P. G. of the Lodge, was adopted:

"Leaves have their time to fall,
And flowers to wither at the north wind's
And stars to set—but all [breath.
Thou hast all seasons for thine own, O, death."

P. G. James Monjar was born in Hartford county, Maryland, 1799; initiated into Milton Lodge July 12th, 1848; died Feb. 9th, 1887. From his initiation until his death he was deeply interested in the principles and workings of our beloved Order. Ever mindful of the teachings of its beautiful ritual, in all the relations of life he acted well his part, being a devoted Odd Fellow, an affectionate husband, a good citizen and true friend. While we bow in humble submission to the Divine will, we recognize that in his death the Order at large has lost a true Odd Fellow. We will ever cherish a fond remembrance of the many sterling virtues of his character and bury all his imperfections beneath the clods that rest upon his bosom. As a Lodge of Odd Fellows we extend a deep and heart-felt sympathy to the bereaved family of our deceased brother in this their hour of severe affliction, praying our Heavenly Father to sustain them and be their Father and their God.
